

Hamilton & Hodson Traditional Upholstery

Perking up the Pigsty

Hamilton & Hodson is an upholstery and furniture business in Long Ashton. They moved to their current premises in 2023 where the space could enable them to grow the business, allowing them to offer year-round courses, increase the number of students they teach and provide a convenient place to browse and purchase fabrics. To help achieve this, they needed to improve elements of the building to help create a space to accommodate all areas of their work - an upholstery workshop, a showroom, a teaching space, and a reception area. They used their Rural England Prosperity Fund grant to help fund these works.

The changes make an attractive, welcoming, and practical space, allowing the business to increase the number of leisure courses they run and entice other crafts-based course providers to hire the space. It provides a showroom for their fabrics and increases their customer base. Clients have already commented on how much nicer the space is, and the improvements have encouraged another small interiors-based business to move in next door.
